Do you have a good slogan for Sierra Madre? One which can be carried on letterheads and on other items of publicity that are sent from here? If you have something good, the Chamber would like to hear from you and while no prizes are offered, the winner would have the satisfaction of knowing that his slogan would go around the world. Maggie Ascher, who handles much of the mail at the Chamber, says that inquiries about Sierra Madre come from every spot on the globe.

At a recent board of directors meeting, slogans were discussed, with "Sierra Madre Village" and "The Wistaria City" leading as favorites.

The other night while chatting with friends, the mother of the family told us that her "boys," now grown men, had built a treehouse in their youth in the tree which was now sheltering us. What memories the remark brought to us. It's always been our contention that a child who has not lived in a treehouse has missed a thrilling episode in growing up.

How well we remember the house brother built in a giant oak. We had only to reach out the window of our tree paradise to gather an abundance of acorns with which we enticed the squirrels to come to our quarters. We remember being caught up there during a fierce thunder and lightning storm, while dear mother's calls to come down went unheard above the roar of the thunder. It was only when she ran out and started to climb the rickety ladder to rescue us that we decided to come down. A few minutes later, lightning struck an adjoining limb. After that we realized that trees during a storm are strictly for the birds.

SWEAT & TEARS DEPT.:

Dear Verna:
I have a nice big fat juicy candidate for the meaneast $4.5 in town.

SOME ONE SWIPED THE THERMOMETER IN FRONT OF OUR OFFICE! This might, at first glance, seem a mere trifle. But I can assure you it is anything but.

When the weather gets into the state it's been for the last two weeks, that thermometer has been a source of daily amusement for the nice old gentlemen in town. I can see them totter on past—through all this heat—once each steaming day for a look at the thermometer, probably to check what it says against their frying senses. They stand there, mop their brows, read and depart with shaking heads.

We cannot bear the disappointment and frustration on the perspiring faces we know so well when they look—in vain—for this mercurial indication that says it's quite proper to sweat.

Could you print a notice of some sort for this fiend to bring back the Town Thermometer? These poor old fellows wouldn't make the long trek down this way if they'd rather guess the temperature. They want facts—and the facts have been lifted right from under our noses.

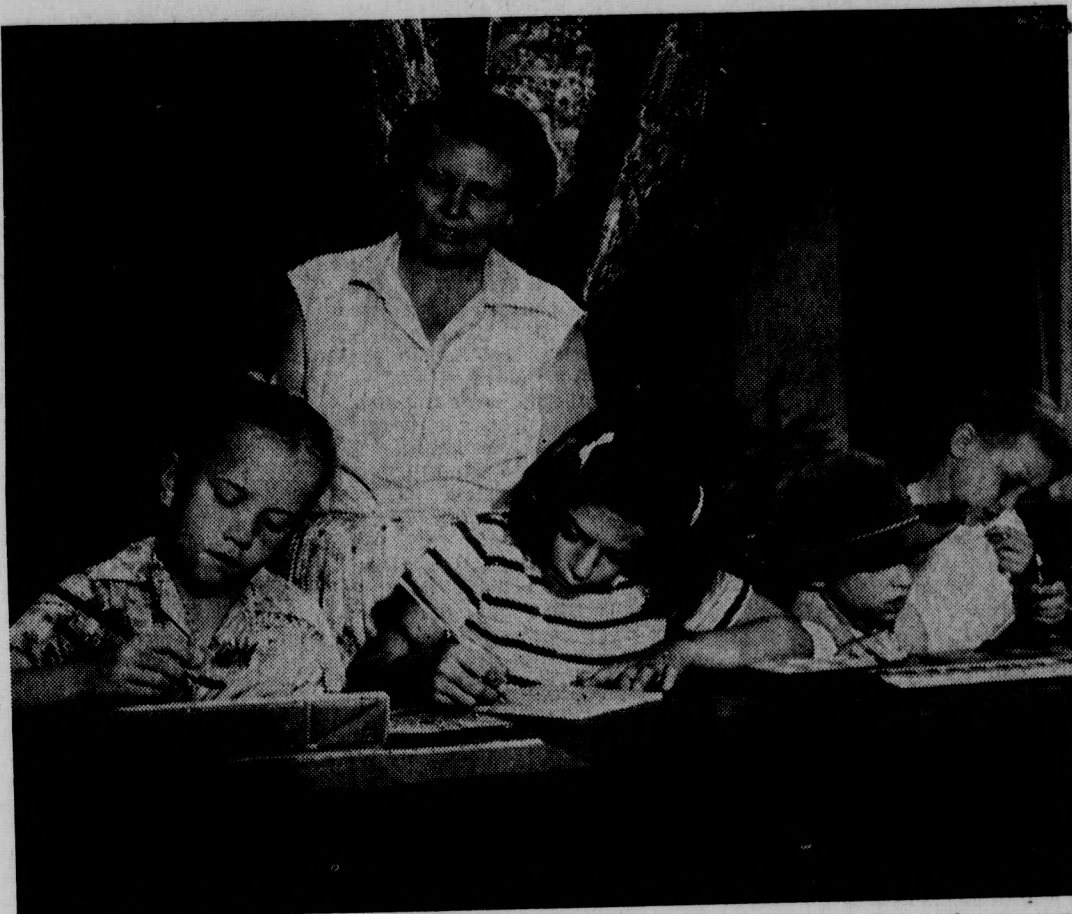

MAGGIE ASCHER.

Dear Contributor:
Oh, SHAME. This is indeed a shabby situation of which you write, a blight on our fair city of churches and homes. It is to be hoped the culprit, the KNAVE, is suffering the tortures of wherever-it-is that purloiners of thermometers are consigned to.

Our earnest hope is that this misguided, benighted wrongdoer will see the ERROR OF HIS WAYS and restore the thermometer to its RIGHTFUL PLACE in order that these old gentlemen and passersby may once again forego their purposefully in front of the John C. Loomis Real Estate and Insurance office, 38 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. (ADV.)

Our even more earnest hope is that the drafted weather will change.

LIBRARY BUILDING PROGRAM SLOWED BY LUMBER STRIKE

Board Seeks Additional Funds From City to Equip Proposed New Structure

In reporting to the Sierra Madre Public Library board of trustees on one of the busiest years in the institution's 68-year history, Miss Lulu Moore, librarian, at the same time deplored the fact that the passing of another year sees the library "still carrying on in the old overcrowded building."

Miss Moore's report indicated that lack of sufficient funds was delaying the construction of the proposed new library building, plans for which recently had the final approval of the board of trustees.

Asked by The NEWS to comment on the financial situation and the status of the building program, Webster Vannier, president of the board of trustees, made two points clear:

(1) As nearly as can be estimated, funds on hand are sufficient to build but not equip the basic shell of the library building.

(2) Delay now is due to the strike in the lumber industry.

Elaborating, Vannier said: "On the advice of more than a dozen contractors, we are holding off the advertising for bids until after termination of the lumber strike. Our specifications are in readiness for that time."

"In regard to the adequacy of our building fund (approximately $54,000), estimates as of last May led the library board to believe that we could complete at least the shell of the building. Since that time the board has made slight revisions in the plans, enlarging the footage but incorporating the changes on an alternate basis for bidding purposes and cost comparison."

"In view of this, we have asked the City council for additional funds in order to start equipping the library and for taking care of any marginal needs. Despite the fact that we have no firm building cost figure, it is necessary for us to make this request at this time for incorporation in the municipal budget now in the final stages of preparation."

Vannier has asked that the library tax, which is pegged at 30 cents per $100 valuation, be increased to 20 cents from its present 15 cents.

The new library building fund which now stands at approximately $54,000, originated in the fiscal year of 1946-47 when a special tax of 26.72 cents was authorized until such a time as $40,000 had been realized. The special tax was dropped in 1950-51. The City has since donated $10,000 in government bonds. Interest on these as the $40,000, brings the amount to approximately $54,000, it is understood.

Wanda C. Stevens Hospitalized for Polio Treatment

Wanda C. Stevens, 662 Skyland Drive, wife of Dale Stevens and mother of three children, was taken Tuesday morning to Los Angeles County General hospital for treatment of what appeared to be a mild case of polio. The hospital's report Wednesday morning to Dr. C. C. Burski, Monrovia district health officer, was "probable polio, diagnosis deferred."

Mrs. Stevens, age 26, is employed at City Hall as a bookkeeper-clerk. She is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Cole, 251 N. Mountain Trail.

The Monrovia District office of the Los Angeles County Health department reports that there have been no other cases of polio in Sierra Madre this calendar year. There were three cases here last year, records show.

JOB SMALL, REPORT DITTO

Police Officer Jim Heasley's writin' arm must have been tired the day he wrote up the following laconic report after a distress call to 48 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.: "Small kitten in small tree. Easily removed from tree and released to small boy."

Medical Group Future Plans Told Kiwanis

One of the chief aims of associates at the Sierra Madre Medical Center is to provide emergency medical facilities for the community, Larry C. Lomax, Medical Center business administrator, told Kiwanis club members at a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Lomax also gave highlights of the Center's long-range plans which include a hospital on adjacent grounds. He discussed architectural sketches incorporating ideas which the Medical Center group hopes to make reality in future years. He also told the origin of the present center and its present functions.

Kiwanis President David H. Allen announced a board meeting for 8 o'clock tonight at his home, 1375 Hastings Ranch Drive.

Guests at this week's meeting included Mayor Robert T. Radford of Monrovia and William Deley of Altadena, both Kiwanians.

Come Hear the Band! Concert Tomorrow in Park

It will be foot-tapping time again in City park tomorrow night.

The fourth in the Sierra Madre Concert band's popular midsummer series of outdoor programs this season will be presented at 7:30 p.m. with Roger Gray directing.

A few of the numbers which had been programmed by press time this week, according to Director Gray, will be "Street Scene," "Ballet Parisian," "Park Avenue Fantasy," "Granada" and "Strike Up the Band."

Welcome New Members

Newest members of the band are: Bob Tyler of Monrovia, clarinetist; George Lucas, Pasadena schools music instructor and director of the Pasadena Summer Recreation band, trombonist; and Joan Morton of San Gabriel, who is welcomed particularly because she has and plays a much-needed bassoon.

In use tomorrow night for the second time will be the lighting and audio system recently presented to the City by

Simple Rites Held Here for L. T. Newcomb

Early Forest Ranger Dies at Age of 103

With the lack of ceremony that characterized the 103 years of his lifetime, Louis T. Newcomb was laid to rest Saturday morning in the Sierra Madre cemetery, just about as close to the mountains he loved as he could properly be buried.

Louie Newcomb, pioneer forest ranger and one of the "all too few rugged individualists," to quote an acquaintance here, died July 28 in Sierra Madre hospital after a brief illness. Having become quite feeble and almost totally blind, he had been cared for the last 14 months of his life in Mrs. Nell McElfresh's boarding home at 41 N. Mountain Trail.

Lived Simple Life

Prior to that he had lived the simple life of a dedicated mountaineer in a cabin on his homestead in the Angeles Crest area, Newcomb Ranch, near where Newcomb Pass also bears his name.

Newcomb, a native of Pennsylvania, became a seasonal forest ranger here before the turn of the century and William V. Mendenhall, Angeles Forest supervisor, recalls visiting Newcomb when he, Mendenhall, was a small boy. Particulars of Newcomb's service with the Department of the Interior go back so far that his file was long since sent back to Washington, D. C. However, Noren E. Eaton, attorney, who looked after some of the old ranger's affairs here in recent years, recalls seeing among his papers a notice from Washington dated May, 1899, reappointing Newcomb as a ranger, "he to receive $50 a month and to furnish his own horse and saddle."

Unofficial Arbitrator

Forest Supervisor Mendenhall says to the best of his memory he believes Newcomb resigned from the service early in this century to take up his homestead and to raise trees for reforestation. He also tells that Newcomb became almost a legend among rangers for his unofficial but effective arbitration when disagreements flared between sheep ranchers and cattle men running stock in Chilao and Horse Flats.

Newcomb was preceded in death some years ago by his wife, the former Grace Crandall of Sierra Madre, sister of the late Jessie Crandall, early Sierra Madre school teacher. His sister, the late Mrs. Alfred E. Pettit, also was a Sierra Madre resident.

Daughter Survives

His only survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Zoll of Glendale, and two grandchildren.

The graveside service for him Saturday was conducted by his niece by marriage, Ruth Crandall Barber, of the Siewert-Barber Funeral Home in Whittier. Preliminary arrangements were completed by Ripple Mortuary here.

Newcomb owned property in Sierra Madre for at least 60 years, a house at 138 E. Grandview, which he occupied on occasion when winter weather and advancing years forced him from his mountain retreat.

Services Held Tuesday for Albert Barlow

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning in the Church of the Ascension, Episcopal, for Albert T. Barlow, Sierra Madre resident since 1947, who died Saturday, July 31, in the Sierra Madre hospital at the age of 69.

The Rev. Harley Gibbs Smith, Jr., officiated at the church services and Sierra Madre Masonic lodge conducted rites at graveside in Live Oak cemetery. Funeral arrangements were completed by Ripple Mortuary.

Mr. Barlow was a retired nurseryman. He was a native of Hastings, Lancashire, England, and came to this country 49 years ago. He was a member of the Church of the Ascension and of the Masonic lodge here.

He is survived by: His wife, Ruth G. Barlow, 361 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., and a brother and sister, Frank Barlow and Mrs. Ruth Richton, both living in Hastings, England.

Construction Sounds Make Merry Music as Business Area Grows

Seek Decision At Meeting on Float Tonight

Those in Favor Invited to Attend

To determine to what extent a group of Sierra Madreans favors community entries in Pasadena Tournament of Roses parades, a meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the City Hall.

William M. Hawkins Jr., chairman of the Float Survey committee of the Community Coordinating council, gives assurance that there will be no speakers tonight from the Tournament of Roses association, no "outside pressure" of any kind exerted on the group in reaching a decision.

Hawkins and his committee found the results of their survey-by-mail inconclusive, hence the meeting tonight. All those who expressed themselves as being in favor of entering a float as a community-wide project were being contacted by telephone this week to urge their attendance tonight. The telephone committee includes Mrs. Alyce Herrold, Mrs. Arthur Twedell, Mrs. Maggie Ascher and Mrs. Hawkins.

It is estimated that a suitable float, designed and built by volunteers, with flowers as the principal cost, can be achieved for approximately $1000. Approximately $300 was pledged in response to the float survey.

Difficulties in late-in-the-year financing of Sierra Madre floats have been encountered in recent years. If tonight's meeting warrants such a step, an association would be formed and plans set up to circumvent past difficulties, according to Hawkins.

Reception Sunday Will Honor Mother Superior of St. Rita's

Sister M. Athanasia, mother superior of St. Rita's Parochial school for the past three years, is being transferred by the Order of the Sisters of St. Francis to Portland, Ore., to serve in the same capacity at Ascension Parochial school.

To honor her before her departure, two organizations of the parish here, St. Rita's Guild and the Holy Name society, have planned a reception for Sunday afternoon, Aug. 8, from 4 to 5 o'clock in the school library. A blanket invitation to attend is extended to parishioners and the entire community, according to Mrs. Roland H. Rosauer and Thomas Lynch, presidents of the host organizations.

Mother Athanasia, who will leave Sierra Madre early next week, had been on the St. Rita's teaching staff from 1942 to 1944, returning here in 1951 as mother superior succeeding the late Sister M. Clemente. Mother Athanasia's successor at St. Rita's will be Sister M. Rosalia, also a former teacher here.

Two other teachers will be missing when school opens in the fall. They are Sister M. Joseph, seventh grade teacher, who is going to Montana, and Sister M. Vincent, who has been transferred to Holy Angels school in Arcadia after three years in Sierra Madre.

Mother Athanasia will be quite at home in the Northwest

FRISKY VAGRANT CAUSES STIR IN LOCAL LOCK-UP

Sierra Madre police said farewell with mixed emotions Tuesday morning to a bright-eyed mischief who wreaked havoc at headquarters before spending a couple of hours behind bars in the local lock-up.

The unpredictable character of their black-masked prisoner spurred police in following up a lead which brought Mrs. Earl LaLone, 380 Ramona, to the station to claim her pet raccoon, "Spooky," who had endeared himself to the gestapo by scattering papers on the chief's desk, and dumping a couple of ash trays.

Hauled in on what might be loosely termed vagrancy, "Spooky" had been found wandering in the 400 block on Ramona early Tuesday. He affectionately welcomed arrest by Officers Ed Cate and Ralph Twedell and rode happily in the patrol car.

Mrs. LaLone later explained that one-year-old "Spooky" came into her possession two months ago when she traded her pet skunk for him.

"Must get a name plate for him," she reminds herself. "Spooky" has a talent for laboriously untwisting the wires of his cage and unhooking his chain to gain freedom in roaming the neighborhood. One recent foray got him shot at when he got in amongst a neighbor's chickens.

This experience apparently did not make a recluse of "Spooky."

Schedule VFW Occupancy

Occupancy of the contemporary clubhouse designed by Architect Mac Cason of Sierra Madre is expected by early December — "Christmas for sure."

Compelled to watch every building dollar, the Sierra Madre Library board of trustees is holding off calling for bids on the proposed new library building until after settlement of the present strike in the lumber industry.

Inspiring Bethany church leaders and members toward their $100,000 building fund goal are plans and an architect's drawing in color of the proposed new edifice to replace the little Cobblestone church at the corner of North Baldwin and Montecito.

School Nears Completion

Nearing completion and expected to be ready for occupancy when school opens Sept. 13 is the new Sierra Mesa school, Sierra Madre's second elementary school, at Canon and Highland avenues.

And in the residential department, water lines are being laid now in the Jack Tilley 75-home subdivision of the old Washburn property. In the immediate offing is subdividing of the Wallis property on North Michillinda, final plans for which were approved some time ago.

Salvation Army appeal recently in progress in Sierra Madre "went over the top," according to A. E. Morgan, treasurer of the local sponsoring committee.

"This does not mean," he hastens to add, "that additional contributions will not be welcomed!" They may be mailed or taken to Morgan, care of the Bank of Sierra Madre.

The appeal quota was $1200. R. C. Lewis heads the local committee which includes Morgan, C. B. Klunk, Harry A. Lange, Mrs. R. A. Pratt, T. M. Schwartz, Frank A. Spencer and Mrs. Florence Peterson.

Letters to the Editor

A THANK YOU AND ... FAREWELL

Editor, Sierra Madre NEWS

Perhaps you will be good enough to convey this message for me and the Plaza Community Center Children's home to our good friends in the community:

There are no words adequate to express to you our deep feeling of gratitude for the wonderful way in which you accepted us and always gave us a sense of belonging.

The personal interest taken by all the organizations, churches, clubs, school staff and PTA—even the business houses—has been indicative of the spirit of Sierra Madre which we will always cherish.

Now that we have come to the parting of the ways (the home closed on August 1), we want you to know we appreciate your many helpful expressions of affection and concern.

We earnestly hope that whatever the future may hold we shall never be out of touch with our friends in Sierra Madre.

Thank you, everyone.

Elsie N. Gibson, Director, and the Staff of the Plaza Community Center Children's Home.

HOLLAND HOMETOWN BUT SIERRA MADRE IS HOME

The Hague, Holland
July 14, 1954

Editor, Sierra Madre NEWS

Being away from my home town of Sierra Madre for more than four months to visit Europe, I have observed and learned many things on this age-old continent.

To give you a few impressions of Holland today after a disastrous World War, I find the people active with a will to work toward making their country great again. The Dutch people are enjoying prosperity, everybody seems to be working; unemployment, to my eyes—virtually non-existent.

The people, of course, are having to make sacrifices, with high taxes and high prices and a high import duty on luxury and other items. But still, the people seem happy and content.

Building of new homes and business houses is in full swing to make good the places so thoroughly destroyed by the hated enemy. The rebuilding of Rotterdam is remarkable. Crime is at a minimum, police apparently having only an occasional drunk driver to deal with severely.

The building of roads also is something the Dutch can be proud of, beautiful freeways and fine roads all over the land like we have in the U.S. but on a smaller scale. It is a pleasure to motor over the flat lands of Holland with its beautiful landscapes and picturesque windmills, canals, old buildings, churches and castles, many built in the 10th century. I will be anxious to share my motion pictures with my family and friends in Sierra Madre.

I notice our Stars and Stripes flying on some buildings and homes and was told it is displayed to show to American tourists thanks and appreciation for the Marshall Plan and our country's help in bringing about Holland's recovery. Everyone here shows their love for America by being especially courteous and helpful to American tourists.

Yes, I am glad to visit the land in which I am proud to have been born but I shall be doubly happy, come the end of September, to sail home again for the good old U.S.A.

Sincerely,
JOHN SENGERS,

GOOD USE FOR OLD MAGAZINES

Editor, Sierra Madre NEWS

I wonder if any of your readers would like to help the boys of the LeRoy's Boys Home by sending them used magazines every month? This place in La Verne, directed by LeRoy Haynes, is home to some 60 boys ranging in age from 6 to 18 years.

The boys would like such periodicals as: Popular Mechanics, Popular Science, Mechanix Illustrated, Profitable Hobbies, Science Digest, Flying, Popular Photography, Home Craftsman, Field & Stream, Sports Afield, Compact, Boys Life, Nature, Natural History, Desert and Arizona.

No doubt there are others that would be of interest to at least some of the boys. We will use them if approved by Mr. Haynes. And with some 60 boys to satisfy, several copies of the more popular ones will be needed.

To those who will agree to send their used magazines for the next year to the boys, I will supply 12 stamped addressed mailing labels with the proper postage. Our aim is to get the magazines to the boys regularly every month.

However, if you have back issues in good condition for this year I will pick them up and deliver them to the boys. Drop me a card at 151 Lincoln Place, Monrovia, or telephone ELIott 8-6702.

WORTHWHILE EFFORT

Editor, Sierra Madre News

I wish to thank you on behalf of the Sister Kenny Foundation for the help you have given us in your newspaper during our recent fund raising appeal.

Without such cooperation volunteers who worked so hard to help raise the needed money to continue the fight against polio would have had a much more difficult assignment. For this fine public service to the community we are sincerely grateful.

ON THE SPOT

General Mark Clark, invited to lunch in San Francisco, walked in just in time to catch his host in the act of placing the general's book, Calculated Risk, in a position of honor on the coffee table. When the host started to blush and mumble, Clark smiled: "Don't be embarrassed. I dropped in at a friend's office yesterday, and he'd put my autographed picture back on the wall in such a hurry that it was still swinging when I walked in!"

What Do You Think?

Persons who haven't any shoes think of Heaven as a place where all God's chillun got shoes. But that only shows how foolishly human it is to yearn for anything we haven't got.

All shoes do is make tender, timid prisoners of our feet, at best, and give us painful bunions at worst. What a joy it is, at the beach, to get our feet out of jail and paddle about barefoot. The girls who go stockless are teaching us liberation. Being as staid and inhibited as most men, I used to think my reputation would never survive the shock if I were caught barefoot outdoors, and as for being seen clad only in shorts—well, I can recall when men who loafed about home with no shirts over their undershirts were considered vulgar if not indecent. Even in August I used to work in my yard wearing coveralls with complete upper and lower undergarments under them.

First time I saw Roll Lewis working about his place with no sign of sweat shirt or anything over his broad back I thought "bankers can get away with anything without losing caste." Then I noticed Ray Steitz and Ed Schrotzberger working about their places clad only in shorts, and realized I had become the sissy of my neighborhood. Now I go barefoot while watering my so-called lawn, and feel like a barefoot boy again. And when I mow the darned thing I wear nothing but shorts, and feel like a free soul.

But I have a haunting fear that if my Boston publishers should drop in unexpectedly they might be shocked beyond words.

Maybe the members of the Los Angeles City council just don't know how to spell. They're supposed to deal with statutes, not statues. (Careful with this one, Mr. Linotype. Two weeks ago you muffed my idea that the transposition of two letters would change the United Nations into the untied nations).

Charles Prickett, general manager of the Pasadena Playhouse, who died last week, was not precisely one of ours, but all Southern California owes a great deal to him. Tens of thousands of us never would have seen a stage play well produced if it weren't for the Playhouse. When I came to Sierra Madre, 27 years ago, about a dozen of our talented residents frequently appeared in Playhouse productions and helped make that institution the longest-lived and most famous "little theater" in the world. It has been going 37 years and has trained hundreds of actors, now doing well as stage, screen and radio actors, including perhaps 20 who have become world famous. Charlie Prickett loved to do helpful and considerate things for people generally and he topped that with great ability to see what

Unlike California, Pedestrian Gets Short Shrift in Belgium

Must Get to Traffic Light HE Can Control To Cross Street, Writer Here Recalls

By VIRGINIA PITTINGER

The streets of Brussels are a motorist's nightmare.

There are no legal requirements—no licenses—no tests when you want to drive a car. If you are 18 and have a yen to drive, you just climb behind the wheel and take off! Apparently there are no courtesy of the road requirements either and the results are appalling. It's a cut-throat, dog-eat-dog business, and there's plenty of competition at every corner and square because Brussels traffic is heavy.

As for the poor pedestrian, he sometimes has to hike two or three blocks to a traffic light he can control to get from one side of his street to the other!

Rough AND Noisy

And then there were the cobblestones. They ruined our shoes when we walked and beat our car to bits when we drove. And if you add the noise of auto traffic over cobblestones to that of the old trams, you get a collection of what must surely be the noisiest streets in the world.

We found it impossible to keep our black car clean there. The soft coal dust coats everything with grime. But the people still scrub their sidewalks with brushes, wash their outside woodwork, keep their windows shining and their curtains white. All of Belgium is as clean as soap and water and effort can make it.

In the country you go through village after village where not only the finest red brick houses spotless, but the tiny, in-a-row dwellings are also sparkling and clean. And every window in every house has its pair of white curtains with a bit of lace across the bottom.

Bruges Her Favorite

Of all the towns and cities we visited in Belgium, I liked Bruges the best. I suppose the only word for it is that overworked "quaint." But in Bruges it's an unstudied quaintness and not the professional type at all. It's the natural result of the canals and the swans and the bridges, of the narrow, tilted streets and the quiet squares.

We looked down from one old stone bridge and there was the shimmering reflection of a weeping willow just across the canal from a tiny bay window that hung suspended over the water. And directly below us we could see a small yard with a prim path stretching six feet from the doorway to the water's edge through two infinitely dignified bits of smooth green grass.

Mrs. Margaret Brashear Is New Resident Here

A newcomer to Sierra Madre is Mrs. Margaret Brashear who is residing at 215 N. Auburn. She came to Sierra Madre from Compton but prior to her residence there had lived in Arcadia for 22 years.

Mrs. Brashear is confined to a wheel chair due both to the after effects of polio and a hip injury suffered in a fall. Despite this she lives alone and is able to look after herself and do her housework, she reports. She is a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

Anoakia Tells Addition of Two Grades, Other Revisions

Fifth and Sixth to Have Separate Building; Changes Due in Fall, Mrs. Bowerman Says

In response to community interest, the Anoakia School for Girls is adding the fifth and sixth grades to its traditional junior and senior high school, with the 1954-55 school year beginning September 20, according to an announcement by Mrs. Paul Bowerman of Sierra Madre, principal.

These new classes will have their own program in a separate building on the historic twenty-acre campus on West Foothill Boulevard in Arcadia.

Revise Curriculum

The beginning of this fall's term also will mark the revision of the curriculum and methods of instruction for the junior high school, with one of the features being a required course in study methods. This will be a distinctive course, designed to teach the most practical means of understanding textbooks, handbooks, and reference materials.

Junior high school students also will be given regular instruction in reading techniques to improve their reading comprehension, reading rate, and vocabulary.

Affords Self-Reliance
"This instruction not only will be an invaluable aid in the preparation of assignments, but also will serve as a sound basis for upper division and college work," Mrs. Bowerman stated, pointing out that the student who is well-grounded in the methods of learning and solving problems becomes confident and self-reliant in any type of classroom work.

Under this program, all teachers in junior high school subjects will participate in the study methods program by applying its techniques in their classrooms, and will contribute to the general program by correcting all papers for spelling, grammar and punctuation.

A new member of the academic administration staff is Mrs. Reaford B. Haney, recently appointed vice-principal. Mrs. Haney is a graduate of the Bishop's School and of Occidental College, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She is the daughter of the late W. Bertrand Stevens, for many years bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Southern California.

THAT HELD HIM

A politician was interrupted by a man in the crowd who repeatedly shouted "Liar!"

After about the 20th repetition, the speaker paused and eyed the tormentor.

"If the man who persists in interrupting," he said, "will be good enough to tell us his name instead of merely shouting out his profession, I'm sure we shall all be pleased to make his acquaintance."

TOO REAL

Two men, strangers to each other, happened to be wandering farther and farther down the darkening corridors of an ancient picture gallery. One of them shivering slightly, said:

"Rather spooky, isn't it?"
"Do you believe in ghosts?" asked the other.
"No," said the first speaker, "do you?"
"Yes," said the other—and vanished.

University Professor Is New Hit on Television

The most talked about television star in Hollywood is a university professor named Dr. Frank C. Baxter. Every Saturday morning on KNXT, Channel 2, in Los Angeles, Dr. Baxter conducts his "Shakespeare on TV," reading with a wit and charm few professional performers can match. In less than six months he has won an audience of over 100,000, nine awards, including Two Emmys from the Television Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a network contract for a coast-to-coast show.

If Baxter's success has awed the television industry, it is no surprise to his students at the university. For years they have jammed his classrooms to hear his vivid readings of great English literature. They have voted him the most popular professor on the campus, and it has been said that Christmas does not arrive at USC until Dr. Baxter recites Yuletide poems to an assembly of the student body and faculty.

Television audiences have been equally charmed—and educated—by the brilliant Dr. Baxter. His commentaries are sometimes humorous, sometimes dramatic, always exciting. Studio camera crews have, at times, broken down with laughter and been unable to perform their jobs. His narrations ripple smoothly through the 45-minute program, and achieve peaks of lyricism never before reached on the medium. In acknowledging the enthusiasm of his fans, Baxter lowers his mellifluous voice and patently credits "my great scriptwriter—William Shakespeare."

Dr. Baxter, educated at the University of Pennsylvania and Cambridge, twinkles with anecdotes about himself—his early days as a waterboy with a circus, his World War I injury caused when a case of canned salmon dropped on his foot ("It gives me a picturesque limp on a rainy day"). But beneath this easy manner, he is a scholar who is regarded highly by his academic colleagues.

Baxter won his television degree "summa cum laude" last month when two awards were given him by the Television Academy of Arts and Sciences. After the second award, he studied the audience for a moment and said modestly: "I don't know what I'm doing here among all you pros." Toastmaster Ed Sullivan snapped the reply which was only too obvious: "I'd say you were doing all right, Professor."

The Answers to Everyday Insurance Problems—
By HARRY A. LANGE

QUESTION: Are there any facts available which show just what causes the most fires these days?

ANSWER: Believe it or not matches and smoking are still responsible for more fires than any other single cause.
They start more than one-fourth of all fires.

HEALTH CHATS

Dr. Ralph J. Martin
Chiropractor
Hotel Arcade
Sierra Madre CU. 5-1138

CHIROPRACTIC — Six Decades of Progress

A fresh concept in the art of healing based upon the physical and mechanical approach, rather than the chemical, was given to the world some 58 years ago. It was termed "chiropractic." New to the modern world, this method was actually in use many years B.C. with the healers of Greece.

The inception of this approach to health was suggested in the advice of Hippocrates, the father of healing, to "look well to the spine for cause of disease."

This phase of healing was later lost for centuries. The investigative curiosity of modern researchers however rediscovered the successful application of these principles about 1895—the same year X-ray was discovered. The science, art, and practice drew its name, chiropractic, from Greek words meaning "efficient hand."

Following Hippocrates' injunction, chiropractic researchers learned that the nervous system, including the brain and spinal cord, is the master coordinator of the body. They believed that health may best be restored and maintained through correction of whatever factors may interfere with a normal supply of nerve energy to all organs and tissues.

Through expanded research into the healing power inherent in maintaining structural and functional integrity of the nervous system chiropractic has won a major battle in man's war against disease. Thus, in a little over half a century the chiropractic profession has received such public recognition that the number of doctors of chiropractic now total nearly 25,000, who treat some 2,000,000 new patients annually.

C of C Preparing Needed City Maps

New city maps of Sierra Madre are now in the process of being printed and will probably be available to the public within the next two weeks, Anthony Cavalli, secretary-manager of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, said today.

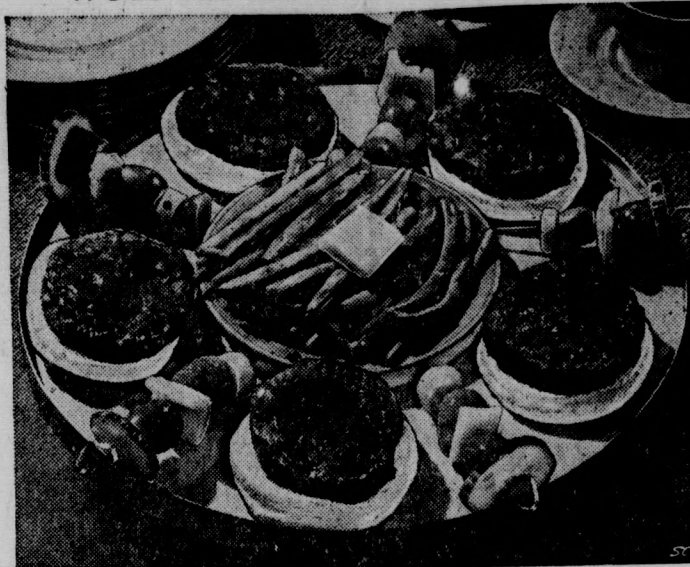

The Chamber receives almost daily requests from out-of-town visitors and it is expected that the demand will be even greater during the coming months.

Douglas Peterson Wins Soap Box Derby Heat Third Consecutive Year

Douglas Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson, 145 San Gabriel Court, for the third straight year was awarded a trophy for winning his heat in the annual Los Angeles area Soap Box Derby when the run-offs were held recently at the Arroyo Seco park.

Young Peterson, age 14, placed second in the next elimination heat and was out of the running for future races.

We're All for One—On A Tray

Designed for a time-of-your-life party—our Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers. They are easy to cook, attractive to serve and the proof of it all is in the eating. It's a one-tray meal in keeping with modern ranch house living. Let the man-of-the-house carry it triumphantly to porch or yard for popular outdoor eating. It will match the appetites of good neighbors assembled for impromptu get-togethers.

Menus which include foods that can be arranged on one large serving platter or tray are most suitable for transporting to a cool, breezy dining spot. The hashburgers, on toasted buns, are prepared with a minimum of time and effort. Food trays need the impact of color and here it is in the sparkling green of fresh or frozen stringless beans and the relish garnishes.

Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers

1 (#2) can corned beef hash 1 teaspoon vinegar
1/4 cup tomato catsup 5 sandwich buns
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Open both ends of can and push hash out, leaving it whole. Slice hash crosswise into 5 equal size rounds. Place hash slices in a greased baking dish and brown them in a hot oven (400° F.) for ten minutes, turn hash slices and brown them on other side for ten minutes. Combine catsup, mustard and vinegar and spread over top of hash slices during last ten minutes of baking. Cut buns in half and toast both cut sides. Place a slice of barbecued hash in each bun. Yield: 5 Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers.

LANTERMAN NAMES PREDECESSOR TO STATE COMMITTEE

Frank Lanterman of La Canada, State assemblyman, 48th District, and Republican party nominee to succeed himself, has announced the appointment of his predecessor in office, Bruce Reagan of Altadena, as a member of the Republican State Central committee for a two-year term.

Each assemblyman nominee is required by law to make three appointments to the state central committee of his own party, one man and two women.

In addition to Reagan, Lanterman has reappointed Mrs. George F. Porter of Monrovia and Mrs. Burt Cochran of La Canada, both long-time Republican leaders.

Carl C. Smiths Honored at Farewell Event

The Rev. and Mrs. Carl C. Smith and their sons, Merle, Leland and Buzzy, were given an opportunity to say farewell to many of their friends in Sierra Madre at a reception Sunday afternoon in their honor in Pritchard Hall of the Congregational church. Approximately 200 persons attended the affair at which the congregation was host.

Although there was no formal program, the Rev. Mr. Smith presented two farewell gifts, one of cash and the other an inscribed bronze medal given by the Boy Scouts. Mrs. Smith was given an orchid by the Women's Fellowship of the church which planned details of the reception.

The Smiths have left Sierra Madre now to vacation, then to make their home in Los Angeles after Sept. 1 when the minister will assume his new duties as associate minister at St. James Episcopal church. Following his resignation from the pastorate he has served here for eight years, Mr. Smith studied for the Episcopal ministry and will be ordained in October.

Mrs. Helen D. Haas, as president of the Women's Fellowship headed the hostess committee. During the afternoon punch, coffee and cake were served by young married women, Pilgrim Fellowship and other Women's Fellowship members.

Edward N. Voorhees Entertains Iowans As His Houseguests

Edward L. N. Voorhees, 58 W. Mira Monte, had as his houseguests last week Mr. and Mrs. Harry Banze of Davenport and Walcott, Ia. A pupil in Professor Voorhees' summer courses in literature in 1922 and 1923 at Cornell college, Mr. Banze has since taught grade school at Walcott, served 23 years as superintendent of schools of Scott County, Iowa, and recently has chosen to teach in a model country grade school of 25 pupils at Maple Grove, Ia. In addition the Banzes own and devote much of their time to the operation of two farms.

Since this was their first trip to the Pacific Coast they concentrated on sightseeing, being properly awed but undeterred, according to their host, by Sierra Madre's most "unusual" heat wave since 1886.

The visitors especially admired Los Angeles County roads and traffic signals, Sierra Madre's shaded and flowered streets, compact business section and elementary school of West Highland which they pronounced "the most beautiful they had seen anywhere."

SUE ANN SHAW, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bird Shaw of San Gabriel, will exchange marriage vows with Richard Everett Pendergast Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Pendergast, 78 W. Highland, next spring.

The writer is a frequent visitor to and has many friends in Sierra Madre and often has expressed her pleasure in the charm and beauty of our "Mother Mountain City," according to one of her friends here.

She recently donated to the Sierra Madre Public Library three of her children's books, "Pete and Repete," "Sea Babies," and "Let's Play Circus," and a book of poems entitled, "Sticks and Stones."

Mrs. Converse's most recent book of poetry is based on her prairie-land impressions and is dedicated to a brother who shared the prairie-land period of her life with her. The book is illustrated by Eileen Sheila Hill who also is a writer.

SHARON LOU KEELAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Keelan of Newport Beach, will leave shortly for Japan to marry Lt. Hanns U. Baumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baumann, 756 N. Auburn. Announcement of the happy news was made recently at a luncheon held at the Tail O' the Cock.

New Oil Drilling Method Studied by California Oilmen

A new method of drilling oil wells which may revolutionize that industry is being studied with great interest by Southern California oilmen. It is a drill which digs by blasting the earth with ultra-high frequency sound waves—the same principle used in homogenizing milk and, as just discovered, in painlessly drilling teeth.

Heat's On! M.D. Suggests Precautions

ROY O. GILBERT, M.D.
Los Angeles County Health Officer

People differ in their ability to stand hot weather. The frequently heard complaints about the heat are not always imaginative as summer heat is indeed a wretched experience for many individuals. Yet, with a few simple precautions, hot weather can be made moderately pleasant and quite safe.

In the opinion of medical authorities, it is foolhardy for individuals to stay out in the hot summer sun for more than a short period of time without a head covering of some sort.

Siesta—Would Be Nice!

Strenuous physical activity should always be sharply curtailed during hot weather. People who live in hot climates, such as is found in the tropics, have learned to move slowly. Indeed, during the hottest part of the day a siesta is taken. Although this commendable custom is not usually possible when people are working for a living, it is an excellent practice for children, retired elders or the chronically ill.

The cooling effect of bathing the body with tepid water is well known and is the established custom in many countries. It has the additional advantage of keeping the skin clean and so permits better functioning of the body's cooling mechanism.

Loose clothing also helps to keep the body comfortable since it permits free circulation of air. Hot, tight garments keep the heat confined to the body and hinder the evaporation of perspiration which is an important part of nature's insulation system. Light colored materials, which reflect the sun's rays, are cooler than dark colored stuffs that absorb the rays and so serve as a storage vehicle for heat.

Light Meals Best

Heavy meals are difficult to digest in hot weather. So it is a good habit to eat less on hot days. Meals should be well-balanced, however, and should not be limited to fruits and salads.

Since it is estimated that the average person loses more than two quarts of water and more than an ounce of salt from his body on a hot day, these substances must be replaced in order that the body's air-cooling system may function well. It is necessary, therefore, to drink plenty of water or fruit juice and use an extra pinch of salt at meals.

This small amount of salt is usually enough although individuals doing hard physical labor will require more. Active children may also need more salt which can be taken in the form of salted nuts or crackers. It is always unwise to take more salt than the body needs.

Hot weather never agrees with some people but it is just possible that a few of the individuals, who suffer so acutely from the heat, are breaking one or more of these summer health precautions.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE STARS AND STRIPES, gift of the auxiliary of Harry L. Embree Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was a proud occasion for Cub Scout Pack 371 which was organized earlier this year. The ceremony took place in the Congregational church.

ROLLIN C. LEWIS GIVEN TREASURY DEPARTMENT AWARD

Rollin C. Lewis, president of the Bank of Sierra Madre, was the recipient last week of an engraved copy of President Eisenhower's inaugural prayer presented to him by the United States Treasury department for "distinguished volunteer service" as chairman of the Sierra Madre Savings Bonds committee.

The unusual award, which is framed in wood from the inaugural platform expressed Treasury appreciation for the 12 years of active volunteer leadership of local activities to promote the sale of bonds. It was presented by Barbara Lee Chandler, deputy director, on behalf of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Southern California Advisory Committee for Savings Bonds.

In response to the presentation, Lewis commented that his acceptance "could only be in the name of the citizens of Sierra Madre, all those who are buying bonds and who have joined in the activities of the local committee."

California Will Need 65,000 New Teachers by '59

California will need 65,000 new teachers in its elementary and secondary schools during the next five years, according to a report just issued by the State Department of Education. It also needs school houses. California would have to open a new school building to accommodate 700 children every Monday for 60 months to meet the demand, specified the report.

DONNA SEAMAN RETURNS FROM SUMMER CAMP

Funeral at Live Oak for Mrs. Thomson

Graveside funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Live Oak cemetery for Josephine Orme Thomson of Monterey Park who died Saturday, July 31, in a Pasadena hospital.

Rev. Carl C. Smith officiated at the services, arrangements for which were completed by Ripple Mortuary.

Mrs. Thomson, whose death followed a brief illness, is the sister of Mrs. Louis Sparks of Sierra Madre and the daughter of the late William Everett Orme of this city who died in April of this year. She was a native of Hopkins, Mo.

Surviving her are: Her husband, Clarence Thomson, and sons, Danny and Brandon Thomson, all of 2405 Finlay Ave., Monterey Park; her sister, Mrs. Sparks, and a brother, Herman M. Orme of Tulsa, Okla.

CHIEF McMILLAN ISSUES REMINDER: DOG TAGS DUE NOW

New licenses for the Sierra Madre dog population have been due since July 1. Tags for 1954-55 may be obtained at the Police station, the fees being as follows: Male dog, $2; spayed females, $2, and females, $4.

Chief of Police Gordon G. McMillan says registrations are ahead of those at the same time last year, principally due to those issued in advance of July 1 during the voluntary mass inoculation of dogs here last month in the PTA's anti-rabies campaign.

A total of 752 dogs were licensed here last year.

Seems as if there are more pooches than that in town but Chief McMillan says there's no way of knowing and he thinks people are pretty good about licensing their canine pets.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON COMPANY

Introducing...SIERRA MADRE'S BUSINESSMEN

The fourth in a series about Sierra Madre's business establishments and the men and women who own and manage them—

"I Wonder if You Know How Really Fortunate You Are?"

Herein lies a short story that should provide you some food for thought!

Mrs. B. and a house guest from back East had just returned from a shopping tour in Sierra Madre. The guest was obviously pleased with her purchases . . . and a pleasant afternoon.

"What nice stores you have," she exclaimed,
"and such friendly people waiting on you! You've got everything here but the impossible crowds.
I wonder if you know how really fortunate you are?"

The quality of merchandise offered in Sierra Madre stores, the style RIGHTNESS and value SOUNDNESS represent a long-time effort by merchants to serve thousands of better-living Sierra Madre families. It is a case of a town's particular desires being mirrored in shopping standards and your local store owners know that ordinary merchandising practices just won't do.
You're in for a pleasant surprise when you shop at home!

TRY SIERRA MADRE FIRST FOR ALL YOUR SHOPPING!

THE MAN WHO HOLDS seniority among Sierra Madre's service station men is Roy H. Pickett, a native of Council Grove, Kansas—a town so named because Indians and white men once held their council there. Although that phase was a little before his time, Roy grew up on a farm surrounded by landmarks of some of the most colorful "Santa Fe Trail history" in Kansas
. . . Roy also is a good reference for quite a bit of Sierra Madre's history. He can still see, in his memory, the outlines of the old City Hall that once stood across the street from his Richfield station, "Pickett's Service," at 18 East Sierra Madre Boulevard, adjoining Robert's Market . . .
How does a young Kansan find his way to California? Roy did it the hard way—by first serving aboard a U.S. Navy destroyer during World War I.
After dodging torpedoes, some of which actually bounced off the destroyer's stern, Roy decided that a trip to California couldn't be TOO dangerous!
. . . When he did head westward, there was a girl named Lucile from a neighboring farm who came along. That was in 1924, when the two of them decided that California AND a honeymoon would make a perfect combination! . . . Their first stop was Whittier, but in March, 1925, they settled in Sierra Madre because Roy had passed his exams for the post office here. Postmen, however, do a lot of walking, and Roy soon decided that for that amount of effort he might as well be running a gas station for Richfield at 52 North Baldwin—which he did from 1925 until 1931 . . . In September of the latter year Roy moved to his present location, where the late Earl Olsen used to bring a relative of his—name of Jimmy Durante! . . . "Pickett's Service" also is famous for other kinds of celebrities—meaning, of course, its Richfield gas and oil, Goodyear tires, and other "star" products in the fields of lubrication and automobile maintenance.

To complete his service, Roy has established a car-repair garage at the rear of his property, where
J. M. Graham has been in charge for 12 years . . .
Roy, who has four daughters and nine grandchildren, is a past president of Kiwanis in which he has been a member since 1935. A post commander of the American Legion here in 1930, he played first base for the Legion's ball club when they were league champs in 1932! . . . When you discover

ROY H. PICKETT

that he has sung in the Congregational Choir, you won't have to ask about his "pitch" . . . Just talk to Roy sometime—and you'll know he sings BASS!

GEORGENE SALISBURY

IF THERE WERE a wolf whistle handy it might be the easiest way to describe Georgene M.
Salisbury, one of Sierra Madre's businesswomen.
It's just plain difficult to do it otherwise! . . .
Writers of fiction have been trying it for years.

Considering that she is Georgene of "Georgene's Flowers"—the downtown florist in the hotel patio, 32 West Sierra Madre Boulevard—some of the boy-meets-girl plotters might find it "a natural" to describe her beauty as being "competitive" to her flowers . . . Trouble is, that wouldn't sound very business-like—and Georgene, with all her gentle manners, is so "business-like" that she worked for three days and two nights without ONE minute of sleep, last "Mother's Day!" . . .
Although she lives with her mother in Arcadia, where her own house is now being built, Georgene thinks of herself as a Sierra Madrean. Since childhood, she has made many friends here; one of them was the late Jessie Ward Russell, who owned Ward's Nursery for many years (which later became Barrett's Home Gardens) . . . Jessie, who was beloved here by so many, gave Georgene the guiding hand in opening "Georgene's Flowers" in August, 1952. Georgene had had plenty of experience in flower shops—all the way from Columbus, Georgia, to Arcadia—but finding the location and stock for her own enterprise was something else again . . . Georgene not only gives credit to Jessie for being great help, but also to the churches, clubs, and the many individuals in Sierra Madre who have encouraged her through their flower orders . . . Born in Los Angeles, Georgene's schooling included elementary grades in San Gabriel and Arcadia, and the Flintridge School for Girls which later became Anoskia . . .

What did she study? Almost everything—but her mind was on flowers. Her first sale of flowers, in fact, occurred in early childhood after she had picked a handful from a Redondo Beach park (but PLEASE don't tell anybody!) She has been fascinated by the idea ever since . . . The human interest side of her business includes weddings, funerals, and Teen-Age problems. In the latter, the seriousness is absolutely SUPER COLOSSAL when it comes to a young man's dilemma in picking the right corsage for the right girl! . . . In spite of her busy time, she still likes to swim, bowl, ice-skate, ride horses, paint, sew, and COOK! . . .
Unbelievable? Sure. So is her long auburn hair, braided in a brushed-back halo, her deep brown eyes, her straight white teeth, and her— . . .
Never mind! Where's that wolf whistle?

ANY SIERRA MADREAN COULD HIT the jackpot on a radio quiz program if he were asked: "Who is the only car dealer in Sierra Madre?" He could say two words—"Carl Hansen!"—and pick up the money . . . Carl, whose first two years were spent in Blackfoot, Idaho, has a better memory for the town of Mackay, same state, where his father—who was best known as "C. V."—operated two ranches, a stage line, and a livery stable. That's where Carl learned to love horses! . . . When the stage lines in that rugged country showed signs of giving way to a more mechanized form of travel, Carl's father became the dealer for Fords and Buicks, in 1910. In those days, none of the Hansens minded the least bit if somebody hollered: "Get a horse!" In fact, they sometimes were inclined to agree with the popular opinion of that day . . . Carl moved to Los Angeles in May, 1923, after receiving a letter from a friend during the previous winter, describing how the friend, enjoying the California climate, had "just eaten strawberries for breakfast!" Carl, who was hip-deep in Idaho snow at the time, decided to pack-out for Southern California by the quickest

RR, bus line, stage line, or horse available! . . .
After becoming a Ford salesman in Los Angeles for one year, Carl moved to Pasadena where he worked for Ford from 1924 until 1937, still selling cars. When the Ford agency was offered in Sierra Madre in 1937, Carl grabbed it! . . . His business location then became 37 West Sierra Madre Boul-levard, next to Sierra Madre Hardware. By that time, he and his wife, Sally, had been married for seven years. She originally was from South Dakota, but they met in Pasadena in 1928. How? Through her uncle from South Dakota who was in the automobile business! . . . Aside from his family life—he and Sally have an 18-year-old son, "C. V."—Carl's two loves are still automobiles and horses. He kept a horse here for many years, name of "Diamond"— a winner in local Frontier Days—but now that "Diamond" is gone, Fords, Fords, and more FORDS take up most of his working time . . . For four years in a row, Carl's new agency at 120 West Sierra Madre Boulevard has won Ford's coveted "Four Letter Award"—which means: "Finances—sound!
Management—efficient! Spirit—always competitive! Facilities—completely modern!" . . . He likes

CARL HANSEN

deep sea fishing, locally or in Mexico, but you can usually find him around the shop—adding one more to the total of the ten men employed there!
. . . All ELEVEN of them have been there for years, because they like their customers—and their work!

FIRE FLAMES

By JAMES HEASLEY

Members of the Volunteer Fire department were sufficiently interested to turn up at the station for three hours every night for a week recently to receive fire fighting instructions from a representative of the fire training program of the State Department of Education.

Such instruction as Clyde Pope gave us here is made available without cost to local fire departments. Sierra Madre has called for these classes on several occasions and found them of great value. Our regular drills hardly suffice to keep a large number of men up to date on all the tricks of the trade and we greatly appreciate the State's help along these lines.

JUSTICE, YET!!

"Don't worry," said the attorney to his client charged with murder, "I'll see that you get justice."

"Justice!" screamed his client. "What do you think I hired you for?"

Professional firemen are subject to the opinions and, sometimes, gibes of the sidewalk firemen who appear regularly at every fire. Volunteer fireman, as you can well guess, are especially wide open to these sidewalk comments and directions and often we are loudly compared, generally unfavorably, with big city departments. What our critics don't realize is that the big city departments also have jeering sections.

One of our local sidewalk umpires has gotten so critical that he condemns our newest truck because he learned it had been necessary to re-charge its battery. One thing he didn't criticize was the fact that either a visitor at the fire station or even one of the volunteers had turned on one of the switches—and left it on! Fortunately, the oversight was discovered before the battery had gone dead. Our kibitzer, though, would be one of the first to voice loud objections to establishment of a regular paid fire department.

Anyway, it occurs to me it would be more seemly for our kibitzers to quietly observe and LEARN something about fire-fighting before they comment so freely and reveal their ignorance.

We, ourselves, are certainly not professionals and we know it. But we are mighty proud of the degree of efficiency we have been able to achieve and have proved in the past; we're glad for what we have learned about fire-fighting and intend to keep right on learning. So there!

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

You'll never go wrong in your indoor picture taking by using a plain wall for a background. Then you are certain there is nothing to distract from your picture.

And It Was There All the Time!

THE title of today's column might well be the lament of a snapshotter who has just had a first glance at a picture that he wanted to be so very good! Perhaps he had worked really hard to get everything just right. He had studied his subject from all angles in the viewfinder. He had made every effort to get a good, relaxed, natural pose.

But the resulting picture may show that he concentrated just a little too much on the subject and didn't see all the distracting things in the background. That's why he can wail, "And it was there all the time!" He knows the gremlins haven't been at work on his picture. The offending objects and patterns were right in the room all the time. He just didn't see them.

Choose your background as carefully as you choose your subject. And do it with one of two things in mind. Make it as neutral as possible, or have it compliment the subject and help the picture tell its story at a glance.

Living rooms are naturally a favorite spot for indoor picture taking. And they can provide just about the most distracting background possible. There are almost bound to be patterned fabrics in evidence—in slip covers, in upholstery, or in draperies. The wallpaper may have a very definite design. These things, while they make the room as a whole very attractive, can provide a very busy, distracting background for a picture.

Suppose it is a baby picture you're snapping. Propping baby up in a chair is a familiar pose. But, if the chair has a flowered slip cover—it is going to steal the show in the finished snapshot.

Usually such busy backgrounds can be easily avoided. In the case of baby and the chair, it would be a simple thing to cover it with a blanket or sheet and thus provide baby with a nice plain, neutral background. Then all attention will be centered on baby.

Robert W. Newbery Jr. On Training Maneuver

While serving aboard the attack cargo ship, USS Skagit, Robert W. Newbery Jr., boatswain's mate first class, USN, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Newbery, 435 E. Grandview, participated in an amphibious training operation at Socho' Ri on the eastern coast of Korea above the 38th parallel but approximately 30 miles south of the Communist border.

The operation, which involved several thousand Navy and Marine Corps personnel, was designed to promote the combat efficiency of all participating units. It afforded training in the planning and execution of an amphibious landing under realistic combat conditions in a typical mountainous terrain that characterizes the entire eastern coast of Korea.

The training exercise took place only three years after capture of Socho' Ri from the Communists.

Mr. Newbery's wife is making her home in Long Beach, Calif.

Quinn Says Values Here Increased by $358,600

Sierra Madre assessed valuation for 1954-55 of $7,993,300, as released recently by County Assessor John R. Quinn, represents an increase of $358,600 over the similar figure for the previous year and reflects the general increased valuation throughout the county.

The assessor pointed out that this does not include state-assessed properties such as public utilities or deductions as a result of equalization.

Sierra Madre total, state audited, assessed valuation last year was $8,298,470, including public utilities, $717,260, and unsecured real and personal property, $164,530, according to the city administrator.

The county auditor's final figures on total assessed valuations are expected to be released around Aug 10, City Administrator Bevington states.

Torrid Days Notwithstanding, Fingers Fly in Recreation Program Craft Work

By NAOMI SAWYER

The first week or so of the really hot summer weather, attendance at the children's supervised recreation program in City park averaged about 70, with one Wednesday morning setting a record with 80 youngsters on hand for crafts and story telling.

Since then, as the hot weather continued and family vacations were in full swing, daily attendance had settled down to between 45 and 50 children except for swimming pool days when we take about 65 boys and girls to Wagner's pool in Pasadena.

One week's craft program included the making of copper plaques, plastic earrings, lanyards, bracelets, key chains and fiber flowers; figurine painting and paper craft.

For "Dress Up?" Miss Thompson tells about one of the very little children who asked whether the earrings she was so laboriously making were "wear downtown" or "dress up" earrings.

The children appeared enthralled with the story of St. George and the Dragon told to them one afternoon. These warm afternoons are made more restful with the story-telling program.

Warm days also have increased our passengers for the bi-weekly trips to the swimming pool. The children are actually forgetting the heat while splashing about with their friends. They also enjoy showing off for Miss Thompson and Mr. Moffet who are their "special" lifeguards.

Movie Every Friday
Mr. Mitchell and Mrs. Sawyer take pleasure in announcing that they are ending the week with a movie at the school every Friday at 1 o'clock. These movies are popular ones, and especially interesting to our youth. Much screaming was evidenced when "Abbott and Costello meet Frankenstein" — on the screen, of course.

Marvin Hoover, being unable to continue with us, we have added a new member to take his place on our staff. Chalmers Cartwright is at the park every afternoon from 1 to 3 to teach sports and tumbling. We and the children are pleased to have him with us.

He is the son of the W. J. Glynn, 646 Woodland Dr., and is employed in Pasadena by the Southern California Cooperative Wind Tunnel. A graduate of PCC and Northrop Aeronautics Institute, he enlisted in the Naval Air Reserve in 1951.

Extend Pipe Into Two of City's Wells

Extension of pipeline down into two of the City's three wells was completed recently by Water Department employees according to Supt. Al Freeland. The work, costing approximately $1750, was authorized recently by the City Council and has been necessitated by "draw down" this summer at almost double the normal rate.

This is due to two factors, Freeland says, (1) higher than average consumption and (2) inefficiency of Well No. 2.

Prior to the pipe extension, the superintendent reports, extreme caution was necessary to prevent damage to the pumps due to the low level of water in the two wells.

Work is progressing on drilling and construction of the City's fourth well, an extension of 90 days having recently been granted to the sub-contractor. Rock damage to the casing and other set-backs had caused operational delays.

'Late Love,' Now at Pasadena Playhouse Meets With Praise

By E. N. VOORHEES

Rosemary Casey's witty play, "Late Love," at the Pasadena Playhouse, is fortunate in a combination of attractive staging, effective directing, and a cast of seven whose intelligent teamwork makes this "radiant comedy" a rare theatrical treat—even during a heat wave that has been something more than radiant.

This story of a snobbish and emotion-bound man, and an emotion-bound but self-directed Woman—whose further identities cannot be here revealed without giving away a plot full of surprises of character—is a drama dominated by an amazing Mother, perfectly played in all her contradictory aspects, by Kathryn O'Connor. Her husband, James O'Connor, shows equal talent as the play's director.

Patrick Hill is amiable and luminous as the witty stock broker, Billy Gordon, whose boredom as a house guest opens the play and quickly reverses itself when the feminine guest arrives. One ponders throughout the play whether the two antagonists, the novelist and the portrait painter, so brilliantly played by Harry and Mary Hickox, who are husband and wife off-stage, will ever arrive at that blissful state in the play. When the curtain falls, rather suddenly, something has still been left to the imagination of the audience—a refreshing touch.

Betty Flint, a Playhouse veteran of many character and straight parts, as the housemaid, Sarah, here accomplishes much nifty liaison work backstairs and in the drawing room, with the aid of discreet shots of gin and the emotional stimulus of her phonograph records from "South Pacific."

Bernard Thomas and Gloria Castillo, as the snob-crossed young lovers, move steadily from the babes-in-the-woods-of-life condition to a courageous stand for immediate, out-and-out matrimony—thanks to

SHERBET HITS THE SPOT

Shorbits hit the spot when you're looking for refreshing desserts to serve on hot summer days. They score again when served after heavy meals. (Sherberts are a little richer than ices, but not quite as hearty as ice creams.) And their fruity flavor makes them perfect follow-ups for menus that feature highly-seasoned dishes.

You'll be particularly proud to serve luscious sherberts that you make in the freezer section of your refrigerator or in your home freezer. Plan on about two hours for freezing and then allow an extra few hours for the flavor to mellow.

FREEZE QUICKLY
Select a recipe that is designed for freezing without constant stirring. And be sure to freeze the mixture quickly.

Controls on freezing sections that maintain a temperature close to zero won't need to be changed. Controls on other units should be set to the coldest position about an hour before a frozen dessert is mixed and returned to the normal setting when it is partly frozen.

LOGANBERRY SHERBERT
1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
2 C. hot water
1/2 C. sugar
2 C. loganberry juice
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
2 egg whites

Set refrigerator cold control to coldest position. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add sugar and fruit juices. Cool, then freeze until mushy. Add egg whites and salt. Beat well. Freeze. Return cold control to normal setting.

CREAMY LEMON SHERBERT
2 tsp. gelatin
2 C. milk
1 C. sugar
1/2 C. lemon juice
2 egg whites
1/4 tsp. salt

Set refrigerator cold control to coldest position. Soak gelatin in 1/2 C. milk. Seal remaining milk with sugar. Dissolve gelatin in this mixture. Cool. Add lemon juice slowly. Freeze until mushy. Add unbeaten egg whites and salt. Beat well. (Work quickly so the mixture won't have time to melt.) Finish freezing. Reset cold control to the normal setting.

BUTTERMILK SHERBERT
2 C. buttermilk
1/2 C. sugar
1 C. crushed pineapple
2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. salt

Set refrigerator cold control to coldest position. Combine buttermilk, sugar and pineapple, which has been partially drained. Stir to dissolve sugar. Freeze until mushy. Add unbeaten egg whites, vanilla and salt. Quickly beat until light and fluffy. Finish freezing. Return cold control to normal.

FREEDOM

We need two kinds of freedom—freedom TO and freedom FROM. We need "freedom from" such things as ignorance and false beliefs, from bitter prejudice and hates and greeds, from fears and false goals. We need "freedom to" seek the truth, both old and new, and freedom to follow it. Then, advises Richard H. McFreeley, we need freedom to work for equal justice; freedom to seek the good, the true and the beautiful with minds unimpaired by narrowing dogmas.

Special Priced Prime Rib Starts Rush To Restaurant

By GLADYS GOURMET

Since they cut the price for a "Tuesday Special"—the Terrace Restaurant in West Arcadia has made eating history! Not long ago, Tuesday was a "slow" night—then Maitre "d," Keith Ferguson, got a brilliant idea.

On Tuesdays, he serves delicious, really thick and juicy cuts of prime rib bubbling in its own succulent juices plus a huge Idaho baked potato with rich creamy butter melting into the fluffy, white goodness . . . for just $1.75. Incidentally, this is exactly the same as a la carte special that they offer other nights for $3.

So remember, Tuesday at the Terrace for prime rib, but come anytime for the best food and drink in the San Gabriel Valley served amid delightful, cool surroundings. That's the Terrace Restaurant at 720 Duarte Road in West Arcadia. (Right next to Hinshaw's Dept. Store at Baldwin and Duarte.) Dinner from 5:30 to 9:30. Phone DOuglas 7-6977.

NAT'L AUTO CLUB GIVES TIP ON HOW TO PARK CURBSIDE

To accomplish curbside parking simply, it is necessary first to begin the approach to the parking space considerably before it is reached so that when the car is to be parked reaches the parking place, it is itself exactly parallel to the curb, according to the National Automobile club.

Continue driving forward until past the parking space and stop as close alongside the car in front of the parking space as is possible. Don't stop until the rear of the car to be parked is even with, or a little ahead of, the car parked in front of the vacant space.

The backing of the car then begins with an immediate turn of the steering wheel to the right, but not too sharply. The right wheel of the car to be parked should nearly approach the curb just as the front end of the car is even with the front end of the parking space. At this position stop the backing and, with the car almost stationary, turn the steering wheel completely to the left, and it is surprising with what ease the car to be parked can be placed in position, oftentimes with only the original move, and it will seldom be necessary to move the car back and forth more than once or twice.

It may be supposed that these instructions sound easier than they are, but the National Automobile club declares a few experiments will prove otherwise.

Remember, it is all-important to back up only when the car to be parked is completely abreast of the car parked in front of the vacant space.

Bold He:—"Will you marry me?"

Shy She:—"Yes—but at this time I think I should tell you that I am a somnambulist."

Bold He:—"Oh, that's right—you can go to any church you want to—and I'll go to mine."

Stephen Potter Heads Local "Little Theatre"

Stephen Potter, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart H. Potter, 535 N. Auburn, has been writing and producing plays with the help of several of his friends.

The Potter garage has been converted into the "little theatre." The sets are designed by Stephen and with the aid of his friends discarded sheets have been converted into a curtain that pulls with hardly a hitch. The boys even fashioned a "balcony" but Mr. Potter acting in the capacity of safety commissioner condemned the structure before it was put in use.

Tickets are made for each production as well as typed programs. Douglas Brown's contribution to the "show" is that of ticket taker, usher, and manager of the lemonade and candy stand.

Richard Yasskin, Fred White, and the Potters' other son Geoffrey, are the performers in the various productions.

Following the play there is an olio and to finish up the festivities Stephen accompanies a community sing on his accordion.
